Veterans: Growing food, communities, and each other

A Post 9/11 veteran led project, designed to help US military veterans transition into their communities through sustainable agriculture opportunities

- Building a new generation of agricultural leadership to strengthen rural America
- Providing veterans with professional development, therapeutic, and community building opportunities
- Helping vets transition through a peer-peer effort

Employment

- Creating a network of farms and farm agencies to connect veterans to
- Building our own plots of land for veterans to work on
- Providing transition resources and opportunities to build resumes

Education

- Hosting interns from multiple disciplines for a holistic approach
- Plugging veterans into internships through our network of farms
- Using our farm plots to provide educational opportunities for local student veterans

Volunteerism

- Leveraging veteran skillsets to improve communities
- Giving veterans a chance to serve again while building their resumes
- Organizing volunteer projects to help our partner farms

Growing Veterans is always looking for new partnerships, volunteers, and interns. Please contact us to get involved!
